

TABLE OF CONTENT

INTRODUCTION	9
PSYCHOMOTOR THERAPY IN THE CZECH REPUBLIC B. Hátlová	11
Definition and description of psychomotor therapy	11
Effects of the psychomotor therapy	12
Forms of psychomotor therapy in the treatment of psychiatric subjects	13
Integration-focused psychomotor therapy
Psychomotor therapy – activating programmes
Psychomotor therapy - actively relaxing programmes
Concentration-focused psychomotor therapy
Psychomotor therapy - programmes increasing self-confidence and confidence in others
Psychomotor therapy – communicative programmes
Therapeutic use of sports exercises
Principles for the management of psychomotor therapy for people with psychological disorders	16
THERAPEUTIC USE OF SPORTS ACTIVITIES IN PSYCHIATRIC TREATMENT FACILITIES IN THE CZECH REPUBLIC B. Hátlová, M. Adámková Ségard, T. Louková	19
Inspiration	19
Care of mentally ill subjects in Bohemia	19
PSYCHOMOTOR THERAPY OR THE USE OF PHYSICAL ACTIVITY AS A HEALTH, THERAPY AND LEISURE RELATED APPROACH IN MENTAL HEALTH. A FLEMISH EXAMPLE M. Probst, A. De Herdt, D. Vancampfort	25
Introduction	25
Definition	26
Therapeutic interventions within psychomotor therapy	27
Action or supportive-oriented psychomotor therapy
Clinical interventions: psychomotor therapy for patients with depression
Clinical interventions: psychomotor therapy for patients with schizophrenia
Experience and expression-oriented psychomotor therapy
Clinical interventions: psychomotor therapy in a clinical psychotherapy setting for patients with personality disorders
Clinical interventions: psychomotor therapy in a cognitive behavioural setting for patients with eating disorders
Research in psychomotor therapy	32
Conclusion	33

SYSTEMATIC REVIEW OF RESEARCHES TESTING MOVEMENT AND BODY TECHNIQUES IN THE TREATMENT OF EATING DISORDERS	35
M.Adámková Ségard
Introduction	35
Methods	37
Inclusion and Exclusion Criteria
Results	39
The scientific evidence of the included studies
Therapeutic programmes and techniques
Research sample
Verification methods
Summary
Discussion	56
Recommendations
Conclusion	58
Final remarks
Studies structured by therapy groups	61
Video Confrontation	61
Mirror Techniques	63
Relaxation Techniques	67
Walking	71
Physical Activities, Exercise	74
Expressive Therapies (dance, drama, improvisation)	85
Massage	91
Mindfulness Therapy	93
Combined Techniques	95
Other treatments	99
References: Studies included in research	101
REFERENCES	105
TABLE OF TERMS AND ABBREVIATIONS	113